SUCCESS STORIES

I began my career as BridgeValley's Accessibility Coordinator in May 2017, and since then, I've been selected to present at several state and national conferences.

Although I've been awarded the Outstanding Student Affairs New Professional Award for West Virginia, my greatest successes have come from working with our students.

Having previously worked at a four-year institution and enjoying the work I was doing in higher education, I accepted the Accessibility Coordinator position at BridgeValley and moved to the Charleston area. What I found was more than a career advocating for students with documented disabilities in the classroom by ensuring they receive the necessary accommodations that will contribute to their success; I found a home.
